01. Project Background

Advit is the managing partner for the Solar Information Centre at The National Institute of Solar Energy, Gwal Pahari under Ministry of New and Renewable Energy, Govt. Advit is a training partner with the Electronics Sector Skills Council of India (ESSCI) for Solar Electronics. Advit runs a solar training centre with HARTRON. Advit was the state nodal partner managing the Rajiv Gandhi Renewable Energy Park in Gurugram for Haryana Government from 2009 - 2015. Applied Materials India Pvt. Ltd. under their CSR programme for the year 2015-16 decided to support the solar training programme by Advit Foundation. In 2015-16, training was imparted to 1000 participants. The commemoration between Applied Materials India Pvt. Ltd. & the Chief Minister of Haryana led to the setup of a Solar training lab at HARTRON, Gurugram and subsequent training sessions in Haryana.

In 2016-17 Applied Materials India Pvt. Ltd. extended their support to Advit Foundation to train an additional 500 candidates. Advit Foundation has trained a total of 1500 candidates with the support of Applied Materials India Pvt. Ltd. CSR.

The programme is a strategic intervention to address some of the key issues in India's renewable energy development plans (e.g. National Solar Mission) which stresses upon promotion of the use of renewable energy and development of associated service delivery mechanisms in the country.

Advit Foundation, a training partner of Skill Council of India, initiated the first Solar Electrical Training programme in 2013 where 300 students were trained from the backward district of Mahendergarh in Haryana. In the following year in 2014 with the support from Ministry of New and Renewable Energy, Govt, 300 more students were trained. Advit foundation in 2014 got recognized as a training partner with the Skill Council of India to impart solar trainings and set up the first Centre for Excellence on solar electronics at National Institute of Solar Energy (NISE) under leadership of MNRE and Electronics Sector Skill Council of India. This led to taking the trainings to larger numbers and spreading to other states as well.

02. Project Summary

The solar electrical training program offered training and exposure to solar Photovoltaics (PV) topics and technologies. PV technologies generate electrical power by converting sunlight into electricity using the photovoltaic effect. The training provided curricula and tools for four days on solar technology and know-how of skills required in the field of solar and entrepreneurship training. The training guidebook helped build knowledge that is required for design of systems, installation and maintenance. The experiment manual developed as part of the portable training kit enhanced understanding of technology usage and integration.

The key objectives of the programme have been:

- To create a standard solar electrical training programme that leverages a "train-the-trainer" model.
- To create a trained workforce with immediate job opportunities.
- To develop a network including training institute, corporate partnerships, and a centralized technology platform that can cater to India-specific renewable energy issues (service delivery, training, knowledge sharing and coordination etc.).
- To contribute to standardization of training curriculum.
- To create awareness on renewable energy technologies in the country and to share best practices among all stakeholders in the value chain.

Advit Foundation is a training partner with ESSCI and the content has been upgraded to meet the Quality Packs set by the Electronics Sector Skill Council of India. The course aims at equipping the participants towards the basic understanding of Solar Photovoltaic system design, installation and maintenance.

The mode of training has been classroom, hands on practical training combined with field visits wherever possible. The classroom training is interactive and illustrative. The training has been a 4 day training in batches of 50 with certification from the Skill Council of India, if desired by the participant. We reached out to 7 institutes spread over Gurugram, Jaipur, Manesar, Faridabad and trained 505 participants.

Content outline is as follows:

S.No.	Module	Objectives
1.	Fundamentals of solar energy and electricity	Basic understanding of solar energy and electricity.
2.	Basics of solar PV technology	PV technology working principle.
3.	Battery, inverter, charge controller and MPPT	Basic understanding of battery, inverter, charge controller and MPPT.
4.	Site survey and system design	Learn how to do a site survey and design an appropriate PV system as per quality standards and existing regulatory frame-work.
5.	Electrical, mechanical and civil structures	Learn about different wiring connections, mechanical and civil structures required for a PV system and understand about installation and maintenance procedures.
6.	Energy economics, entrepreneurship and software	Financial aspects involved in a PV system, entrepreneurship and software used for PV System design.
7.	Soft skills	SOP for safe operations, organizational behavior, enhancing communication skills, resume building, team work, importance of customer service and satisfaction, reporting methods and MS Office essentials, basics of project management.

Mode of delivery:

Trainings were primarily undertaken at the participating institute:

- Class room theory classes and hands on practical training.
- Practical sessions were undertaken using portable training kits designed by Advit foundation.
- Each batch had around 30 - 50 students.
- The students receive soft copy of a guidebook.

03. Placement and entrepreneur support

The candidates who successfully completed the training, placement support in the form of interaction with professionals from solar companies and internship opportunities is offered. Advit Foundation is constantly collaborating with solar companies to interact with participants during the training period.

The training module includes an entrepreneur development session. Besides business ideas Advit Foundation also facilitated sessions from the banks on loans for set up of solar entrepreneurship business model.

04. Project innovation, sustainability and challenges

An interesting innovation that led to going to the students to teach rather than they coming to attend the training, has been our Portable Hands-on Practical Training Kit. This kit has been evolved over the past two years and its current form has the versatility to accommodate 6 experiments in a single setup. A mini 100W portable power plant was also used for elucidating the installation, operation and maintenance practices. An experiment manual has been developed which has a couple of additional experiments in addition to those that are to be conducted on the training kits.

Training of trainers has also been a very important component of this programme. Group discussions are encouraged and brainstorming sessions are also scheduled to encourage sharing of views and apprehensions.

The main challenge is that this training course is yet to be designed to teach individuals how to physically install solar modules, and other balance of system components. There is need for students to construct an actual array on a roof and installing the balance of components, including inverters, charge controllers, and battery banks for grid-tied and off-grid systems. This hands-on solar training course could provide better skills required to work for an installer or to work toward becoming a solar entrepreneur themselves. This however, requires the participants to spend a good amount of time as typically setting up a solar power plant takes at least 2-3 weeks. Advit's partnership with HARTRON is being looked upon as a solution to this. There is plenty of space at HARTRON multi-skill centre and the institution is very supportive of this programme. Advit intends to conduct detailed programmes along with longer duration hands-on experience on the rooftop by means of setting up small power plants.

Advit also intends to setup village level entrepreneurship models. Through this model, we would be mobilizing the trained candidates to spend some time in setting up micro grids in the villages of Rajasthan, where Advit foundation undertakes a large number of developmental initiatives. This will give the participants the necessary hands-on experience to pursue a career as a Solar Installer.

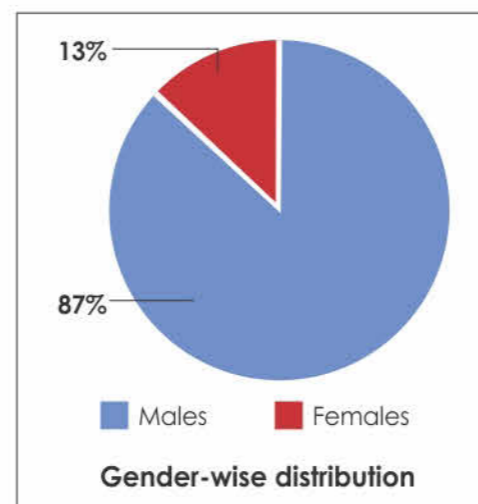

Since September 2017, as a pilot, Advit in partnership with HARTRON has started conducting paid solar training programme which focuses on training candidates who are interested in setting up their own venture. This is an off shoot of the solar training programme, supported by applied materials and has been possible due to the continuous support received.

05. Achievements

A large number of students have benefitted through the training. Total number of participants who attended the sessions were 505 (direct beneficiaries). Considering that each one that attended the training also influences 4 more people (2 family and 2 friends) the solar training programme indirectly influenced more than 2,000 people.

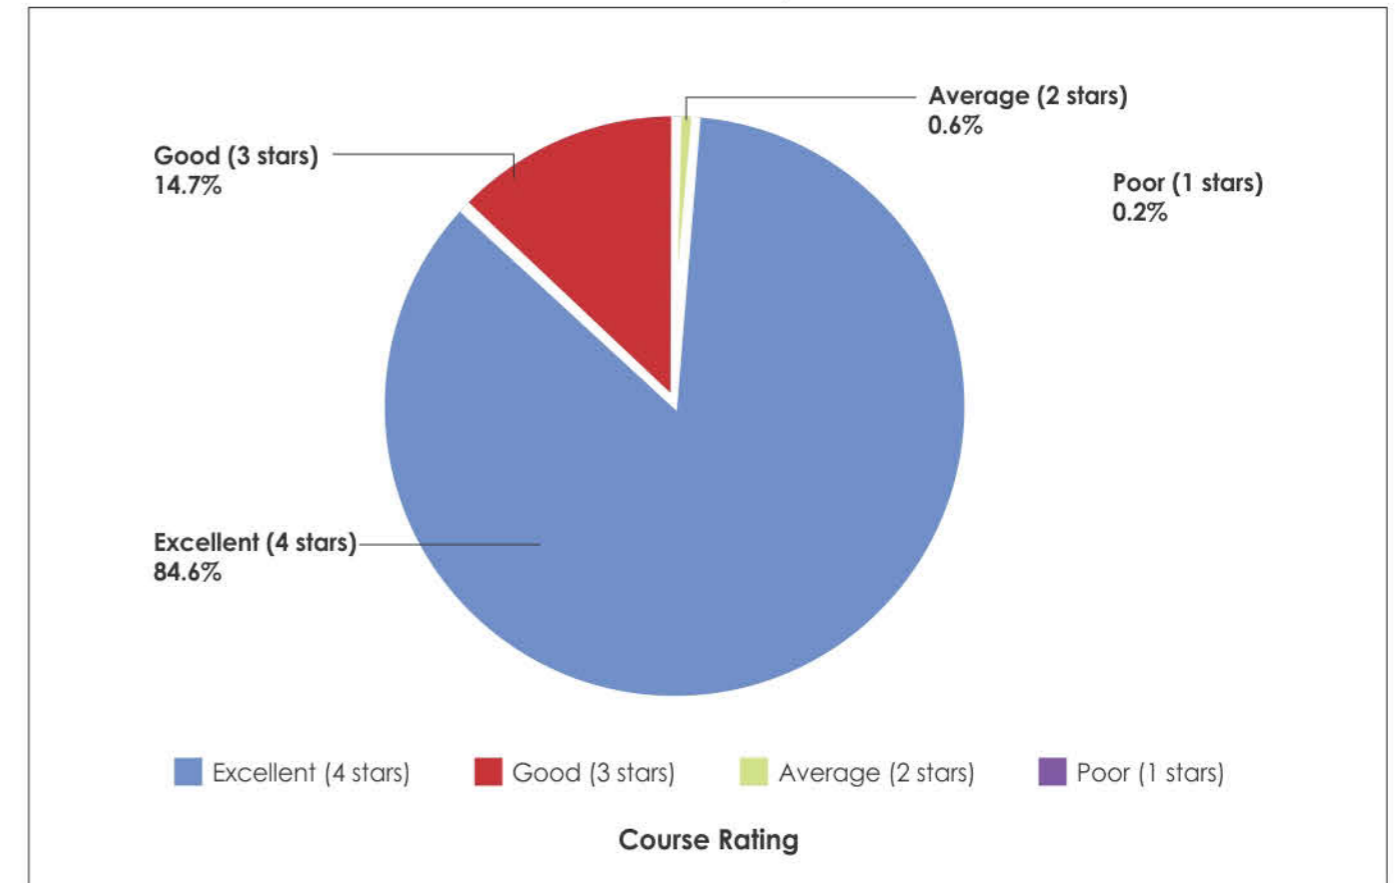

A few interesting initiatives that have emerged from the training programme are:

- Two Participants who attended the solar training went on to set up their own venture which caters to rooftop solar solutions in Delhi NCR.
- The hands-on portable kits have become very user friendly and could become saleable too.
- Out of the total 505 candidates trained; 66 were female, which is 13% of the total number of trainees.

06. Feedback Summary

The feedback from the students was collected and the analysis are as follows:

- 84.6% of the students ranked the program to be excellent (4 stars) & 14.7% of the students found the program to be good (3 stars).
- All the participants felt that this programme on Solar Electrical was explained very clearly to them and is highly beneficial to them.

Comments and suggestions were also invited as part of feedback from the participants.

Some special remarks:

- Around 60% of the participants have appreciated about the training program in the comments section.
- 17% of the students wanted more practical sessions, site visit, etc.
- 10% of the students felt the training duration needs to be increased and may be even included in the training curriculum (check Annexure).
